“ This beautiful young woman had more personality in her smile alone than most people have been given. She tried hard and listened intently to learn. I am honored to have known her. Heavenly Father has her wrapped in His loving arms.

“ Taylor, when my family first moved to Palmer back in May it was a short couple weeks before you and Addison came by to hang out with my oldest boys Zach and Payton. That was the day we first met, my youngest Logan secretly said you was cute and from that day on you was his girlfriend 🥰. Over the course of the summer you got on my nerves but I always let you know and you'd always come over for advice about everything. You grew in our hearts and became a part of my family. Katharine and I welcomed you as the daughter we never had. We will miss you but we will forever remember that smile and goofy laugh.

My favorite memories will always be that somehow you always knew I was cooking because you'd show up right as we was sitting down to eat. It's like you smelt the food from across town before we moved in next door. You would always express your love for my cooking and how good it was. I'm going to miss you treating me on the bus after school.

I'm honored to have been given the privilege to meet you and your family. Your brother and mother will always be part of my family. We love and miss you so much!

P.S. You better behave yourself or you'll get a lecture from me next time I see you 😊!
